

WITSA

Sylvie Wolf

482 pages

Publication date : February 14, 2008

The tormented destiny of a young Irish woman in the heart of a growing America

Ireland 1847. The thirteen year old Jewel O'Connor, just as many others, suffers the famine caused by mildew and leaves for America.

There, she knows the dark sides of New York, violence and prostitution and decides to flee westward with pioneers.

She will find near the Sioux tribe Lakota the semblance of peacefulness which she longs to. With White Man In The Wind, she discovers a new way of life, in harmony with Nature, in the respect of elder people.

Jewel, however, meets Mathias Peterson, a livestock conveyor and a strong enemy to Indians, who soon sees his convictions vacillate.

Over the wars, massacres and difficulties of the conquest of west, Jewel will have to choose the one she loves.

Sylvie Wolf is born in 1966. She deepens her passion for Native American Indian culture as she is now fully dedicated to writing about it, and wishes to revive a decimated civilization. Golden Hair is her first novel.

Sylvie Wolf leads us to a fascinating world in which the poetry of Indian spirituality is blended with the narrator's remarkable talent.